Riders of the Purple Sage, published in 1912, is definitely the best of the bunch, and is universally found on “Best Western Novels” lists for a reason. A more complex plot than is often found in Westerns, the story follows Jane Withersteen, and her harassment at the hands of a group of Mormon fundamentalists.

Best Fiction 2018 — Goodreads Choice Awards
My favourites are Tolkien (of course!), but also Elizabeth Moon’s The Deed of Paksenarrion, and the sequels (not so much the prequels), and also David Weber’s Oath of Swords and following books. Both these are best known for their military science fiction, which probably helps them write convincing fights in their fantasy books.
