Dancing with Water will help you understand the New Science of Water and it will provide you with the tools so you can create full-spectrum, living water . . . in your own home. MJ Pangman Introduces the Second Edition of Dancing with Water

~~Deep within each of us is a longing to dance with the water.~~

Dancing with Water: The New Science of Water is an investigation into water's liquid crystalline phase where water molecules exist in a repeating geometric array similar to the molecular pattern found in a solid crystal. Although the molecules remain independently mobile, they respond as a coherent "whole."

~~What is Full-Spectrum, Living Water?~~—Dancing with Water

Dancing with Water is the long-needed reference, providing credibility for many ideas and practices that have long been viewed with skepticism. It discusses the memory-retentive ability of liquid crystalline water; also its ability to transmit energy and information.

The New Science of Water is all about the liquid crystalline phase of water. It is about water's molecular organization which defines its ability to carry signals and other information. The New Science of Water is also about how liquid crystalline water affects health, healing, and consciousness. Join us in the "dance" as we explore the New Science of Water.

~~The New Science of Water—Dancing with Water~~

The New Science of Water is about the liquid crystalline phase of water and its effects on health, healing, and consciousness. Yet, from another perspective, the New Science, is also a very Old Science, more ancient than the Earth herself. It encompasses a path of wisdom that works in harmonious balance with the natural systems of the Earth.

A RARE BEAUTY. The romantically named Dancing Water Vineyard is home to some of New Zealand's earliest planted Pinot Noir and Chardonnay vines. Carefully selected and planted over thirty years ago, the founders' passion was for creating distinctive wines with individuality and character. The legacy continues today as our venerable old vines have matured gracefully to seduce wine lovers with concentrated flavour, complexity and a depth that lingers on the palette.

Water dancing is an act that ties together many of the novel's central themes: rebellion, freedom, love, skill, and memory. When Hiram was a little boy, his mother Rose and aunt Emma used to water dance, an act that involves dancing while holding a jar of water on one's head and trying not to let any of it spill. It is one of the ways in which enslaved people steal moments of joy for themselves in the midst of the degradation and brutality of slavery.
